ALBAMONT

BULBS FOR FALL PLANTING

There is nothing which will give you so much color and beauty in the garden during the spring months as Crocus, Hyacinths, Narcissus and Tulips. These bulbs may be planted any time before the ground freezes but the earlier they are planted the better established they are before cold weather and the better they will flower next spring. It always pays to buy the best in bulbs, nursery stock and seeds. Albamont reputation is being built on the best, most dependable quality at a reasonable price. The bulbs we offer are imported direct from the most reliable growers in Holland or grown in our own gardens.

DARWIN TULIPS

Darwin Tulips bloom in May, growing from 22 to 30 inches high, producing large globular flowers in brilliant colors. Flower lovers should plant these in quantity because they are easy to grow and make a wonderful color display.

MAY FLOWERING OR COTTAGE GARDEN TULIPS

This beautiful class is quite distinct from any other type of Tulip, blooming May 20th to 30th in New England. They are very hardy and last longer than any other tulip. They have long stems from 18 to 24 inches and are much more graceful than the Darwins. They have long, large pointed flowers which are very artistic. They are superb for bedding and for cut flowers. We, at Albamont, consider them the prettiest of all Tulips. If you compare our list with that of others you will find we offer a much choicer and larger selection.

Amber. A very pretty amber color, $1.10 per dozen.

Bridesmaid. Cherry rose striped scarlet; violet and white. 90c per dozen.
